THERE IS NOTHING MORE MAGICAL THAN WINTER

Whether you enjoy sledding down backyard hills, snowshoeing through a frozen trail, or quietly sipping hot cocoa, winter is a season that we cannot watch from afar. The snow covered trees and sparkling ice are calling us to get outside and fully embrace this season of change. Each person celebrates this season in their own way, and we pride ourselves in making gear that gives you the opportunity to do just that. From those experiencing winter for the first time, all the way to the snowshoers with big mountain goals, our gear allows you to choose your own path and go on any adventure you can dream up this season.

So, go-ahead. Seek out the biggest storms, deepest powder, and quietest trails you can find. Leave the comfort, and dive head first into the cold. Limitless adventure awaits.

THE BEST NATIONAL PARKS FOR SNOWSHOEING

YUKONCHARLIES.COM

PROFILE

Yukon Charlie's ambassador, Drew Bennett, enjoys a bluebird day and endless untouched powder.

The U.S. National Park Service was founded in 1916 and since then, a total of 61 national parks stretching from the beaches of Maine to the highest peaks in Alaska have been created. With over 83 million acres to explore this winter season, we've pinpointed some of the best spots across the country for a truly bucket-list-worthy snowshoe adventure.

BRYCE CANYON

With 7 feet of annual snowfall, this southwest Utah park is perfect for winter adventures. The area's famous red hoodoos contrasting against sparkling snow make for some of the most picturesque snowshoeing in the country.

YELLOWSTONE

America's first National Park is known for its long winters and 400 inches of annual snowfall. Visitors to the park will be treated to seemingly endless snowshoe trails, towering frozen waterfalls, and steaming geysers along their routes.

ACADIA

There are few things more unique than snowshoeing with views of beaches, lighthouses, and crashing ocean waves. Acadia is one of the only places in the country where you can mesh these two worlds together, and it's every bit as beautiful as it sounds.

YOSEMITE

Get up above the valley floor and experience this park during one of its most magical times of year. Most popular snowshoe routes offer stunning views of Half Dome, El Capitan, and Yosemite Valley covered in blankets of snow.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN

You simply can't go wrong with the Rocky Mountains during winter. From the massive amounts of snow the park gets each year, to the awe-inspiring views of 14,000ft peaks, this park is a winter wonderland that is begging to be snowshoed in.

CELEBRATING AMERICA'S BEST IDEA

Inspired by the vast beauty found throughout our public lands, Yukon Charlie's is excited to announce our newest arrival of the season. From towering mountains to remote seascapes, each National Park is vastly different. We believe the diversity of landscapes that make up our country is a fitting metaphor for the differences found in each snowshoe lover around the globe. There is no greater way to celebrate these differences than paying homage to a system that gives us endless places to play and adventure in the snow.

MADE FOR ALL TO EXPERIENCE WINTER

"I was so honored you chose me for the shoot. It stands innovative that an outdoor snowshoe company would choose a black male to advertise their products. It's epic, and the pleasure was all mine." - Rajai Goff

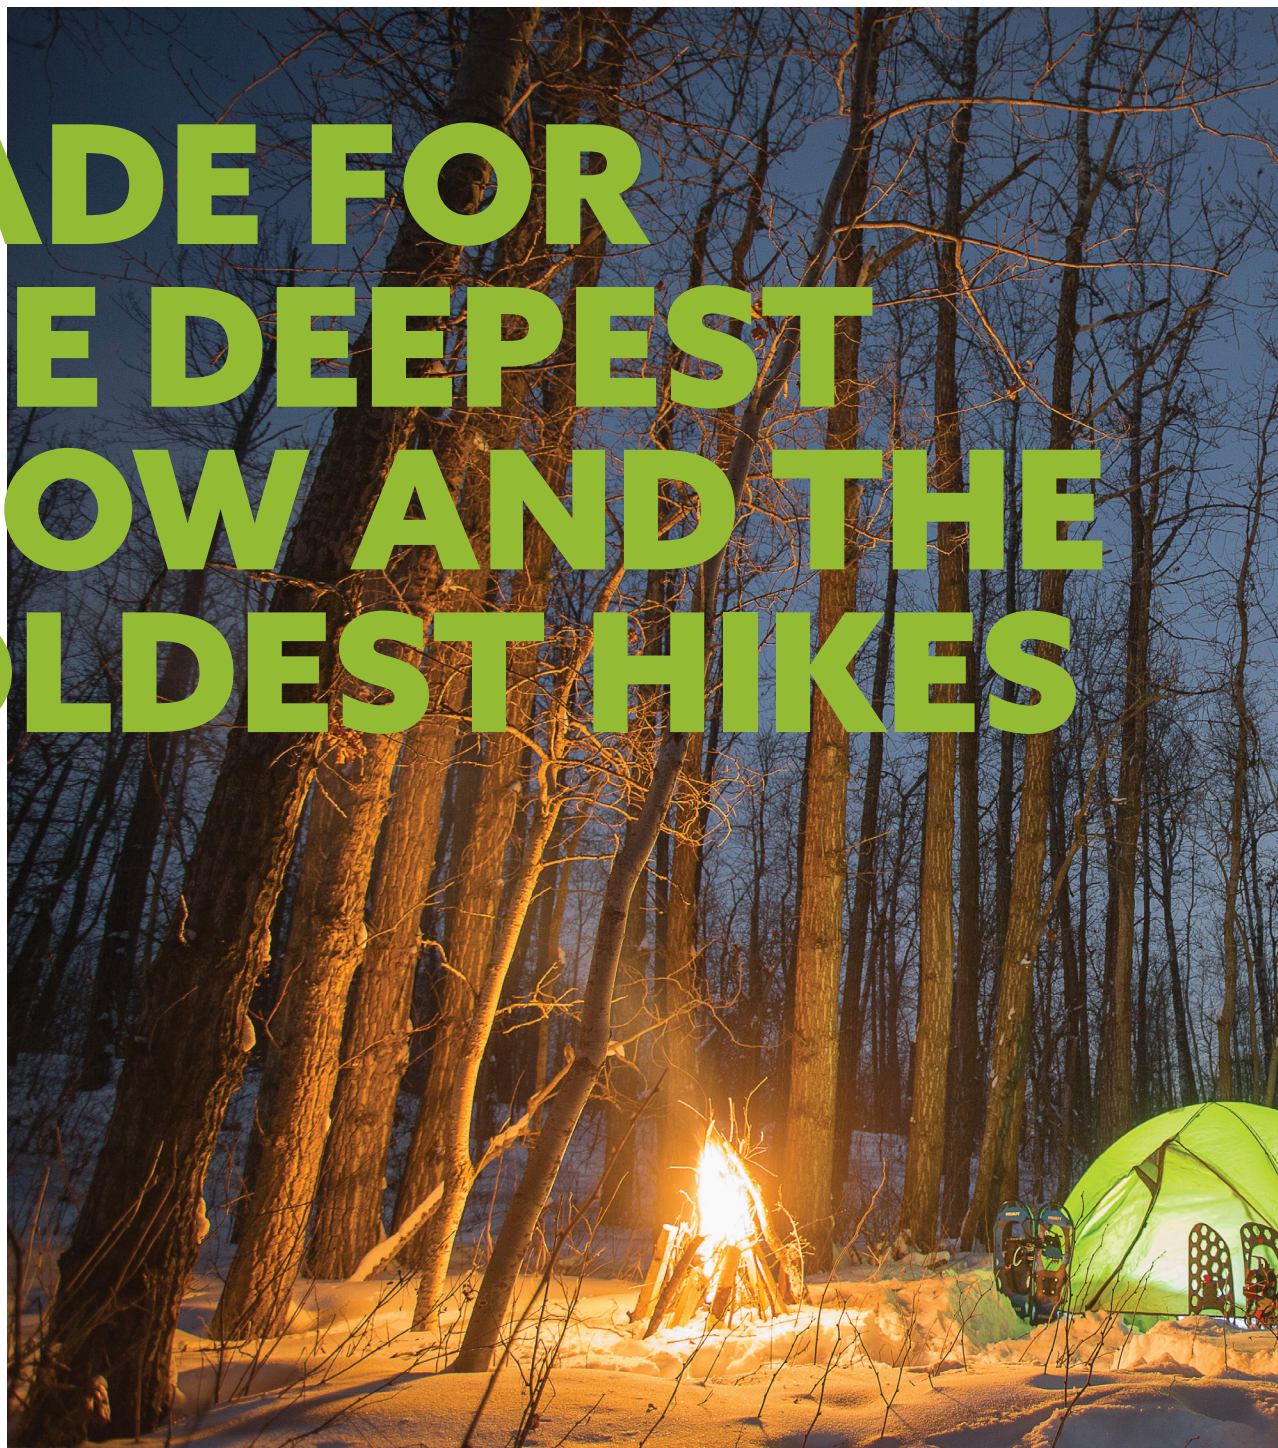

We believe the outdoors is a place for all, not just a chosen few. Winter lovers come in all shapes, sizes, colors, and abilities – but that's not often what is represented in images and ads we see. At Yukon Charlie's, we truly mean it when we say that our gear is made for all. We are adamant on getting as many people outside as possible and strive for inclusion and diversity throughout our nation's trails. We are intentional about the content we create, we think about what we say, and we design our products with this in mind.

Our snowshoes are created to help you break through this mold. We aim to see more diversity in the snow and take delight in hearing stories of winter adventures from unlikely faces. We hope to inspire and empower the next generation of snowshoeing and believe the future will bring unique colors, personalities, and styles to the outdoors. Just like each snowy trail is different from the next, each person enjoying those trails are uniquely themselves – and that is a thing to be celebrated.

KIDS ♥ TO SNOWSHOE

KITTERY, ME

We entered the new year with a goal of instilling a love of the outdoors into the next generation of snowshoers. Not too long after, we connected with Eyes of the World Discovery Center in Kittery, Maine. Eyes of the World is a nature-based preschool that educates and empowers 2-5 year olds using outdoor play as a foundation for future learning. Eyes of the World believes that children learn best during unstructured childhood play in the outdoors. The play isn't planned or led by adults – instead, children are given the freedom to wander, explore, and stretch their imagination all while forming a deep bond with the planet we share. This sort of outdoor play happens every school day, year round. Snow, rain, or shine, the students can be found exploring our world and learning lifelong lessons in the outdoors. Through our partnership, we provided boxes of snowshoes for their students to use at recess and during outdoor classes. The snowshoes gave teachers new ways to get the kids outside on snowy days, and the students loved experiencing a different way to run around outside in the winter months. We are honored to help foster a new generation of snow lovers, and hope to cross paths with our young fellow snowshoers on a winter trail someday soon.
